Highlighting the Renaissance Middle School Community from Afar

I think it is critical to highlight our students and teachers as an attempt to validate their hard work and ability to be innovative. I encourage everyone to visit the website to view the current video and pictures documenting our remote experience. We will continue to update the site with the great things happening at Renaissance Middle School.

This article was posted to the Instagram account of The Montclair Bread Company about one of our 6th Graders!

montclairbread Our new normal...

This is Josie. Last month, Josie spent her days in her 6th grade classes at Renaissance Middle School, just a block away from our bakery. When she wasn't in school, she was creating tik toc videos, ice skating at @clary_anderson, occasionally helping at the bakery and mostly annoying her little brothers.

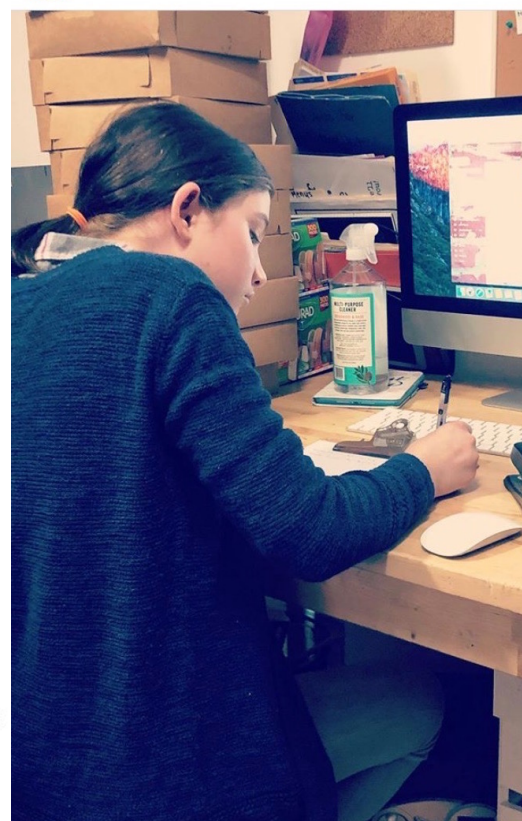

Today, Josie got a crash course in managing the MBCo inbox which includes reading every single order submitted to make sure there aren't any mistakes and manually noting anything left in the customer comment box so our retail team can be alerted. Then she learned how to archive each message when she finished. Four hours later, Josie cleared all the emails and completed her first day on the MBCo customer service team! This all came after she completed her school work. She sets her alarm for 6am every day!!! We wish that we could say 'April Fool's' but this isn't a joke. Josie is now holding an essential, one of THE most essential roles on our team and she hasn't yet made it to her 12th birthday. We are all so grateful for her willingness to learn and step in to help when she saw her mom & @jessicawoodward80 struggling to keep on top of everything.

Thank you Josie. We appreciate your efforts to help our team & nourish our community. We are truly grateful.
